

A sustainable framework for biofuels in Europe

P. Linares Llamas; J.I. Pérez Arriaga

Abstract-

Biofuels are a key component of the EU strategy to improve the efficiency in transport. However, several difficulties have been identified regarding the long - term sustainability of the European Commission's Policy around biofuels. This paper presents a summary of the discussions held in the BP Forum on Energy and Sustainability, in which more than 30 international experts put forward their proposals for improving current policies for biofuels in Europe.
